

TESTING NEW FRONTIERS

Skagit County, Washington, USA

NW Washington's Center for Composites Manufacturing

Skagit County, Washington is home to innovative world leaders in composites, precision tooling, and specialized advanced manufacturing.

Skagit-made products are core components of everything from commercial and military airplanes, NASA space exploration vehicles and the James Webb Space Telescope, to naval research vessels, America's Cup champion racing yachts, and recreational boats.

Skagit County Composites Manufacturers

Janicki Industries
Hexcel
Bayview Composites
Aspen Power Catamarans
James Betts Enterprise
Northern Marine
Northwest Yachts
Eddyline
Chinook Enterprises
JetPoint Technologies
Goodwinds
Fiberglass Supply

BUILDING THE FUTURE COMPOSITES WORKFORCE

Skagit Valley College offers:

- Composites and advanced manufacturing degrees & certificates
- Composites Recycling Technician Education Project: A National Science Foundation-funded curriculum development project
- Northwest Center for Marine Manufacturing: Washington's center of excellence for marine technology

Full-size F-35 model made by Janicki Industries

THE SKAGIT ADVANTAGE

- ❏ Strategic, international location halfway between Seattle and Vancouver, Canada
- ❏ Centrally located to world-leading aerospace, high-tech, and marine manufacturing clusters
- ❏ Cost-competitive: lower tax rates, industrial land and building costs
- ❏ Access to skilled workforce at every level
- ❏ Proximity to world-leading research institutions and universities
- ❏ Easy access by highway, rail, air, and sea
- ❏ Comprehensive infrastructure: competitive energy and utilities costs, high speed internet access, deep-water seaport, and close to 3 international airports

Vancouver

Skagit County
Seattle

New York

Skagit County offers convenient access from

Seattle-Tacoma International Airport or

Vancouver International Airport

5 hours to New York

9 hours to Asia

9 hours to Europe

12 hours to South America

www.skagit.org

Economic Development Alliance of Skagit County | PO Box 40 Mount Vernon, WA 98273 USA | 1-360-336-6114